NATURE SPARES
The Stricken Rose From Grief.
What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LOGS ARE GOING UP
British Columbia Lumbermen are Filling Eastern Orders.
PRICE IS NOW TEN DOLLARS

British Columbia Mills Are Running Short of Logs and There Is a Shortage of Boxes for Packing Salmon in the Canneries—Many Camps Closed.
New Westminster, B. C., Oct. 29.—Local lumber men are vying with one another in the log market here, and the price of logs is soaring high. Already it has reached $10 per thousand, and is still going up. Some of the mills with limits are endeavoring to get logging crews and outfits out to northern camps to get sufficient logs to tide them over the short time, and allow of their filling the large number of Eastern orders now on file, which compels them to work double shift, night and day.
The orders from the Northwest and Manitoba no longer come through the middlemen or commissionaires, but directly from the farmers themselves, who save $7 a thousand on the direct orders.
With all these Eastern orders at hand, and the Fraser river saw mills demand for logs for cargo shipping, the market is rushed for logs, and logs the mills must have, if they have to send their own crews out to cut the forest giants down. The shortage in logs is ascribed to the ambiguous reading of the laws respecting logs, which have caused many men engaged in the business much trouble. Many camps up the coast have closed for the winter on this account, and the city is thronged with loggers out of work.

Boxes Are Also Scarce.
With the shortage in logs, comes also a shortage in boxes, and already there are lying in the different cannery storehouses of the Fraser river canneries sufficient cans of salmon to fill 150,000 cases. Box factories all over British Columbia are working day and night in an endeavor to supply the large demand, and the shortage is keenly felt.
The canners were caught napping in not having their boxes ordered ahead, but they claim that in many previous years they ordered large stocks of boxes and had no use for them. This year as soon as they realized the extent of the pack they began to place their orders, but the orders were too late and too many in number, thus causing a sudden and unexpected rush in the box factories.
About 7,000,000 cases have already been placed with the cannerymen, and the rush still continues in the getting out of 150,000 more. The cannerymen are anxious to dispose of their packs while the English and Australian buyers are in the city and are pushing the mill men hard for the boxes.

"SWIFTWATER BILL" IS SOON FORGOTTEN
Divorced Wife Goes to Vancouver, B. C., and There Weds a Laundryman.
Seattle, Oct. 29.—For a second husband Beatrice Gates, the divorced wife of "Swiftwater Bill," the wealthy Alaska miner, has taken a laundry wagon driver, Harry Cook by name. She and Cook were married at Vancouver, B. C., yesterday, following the granting of a divorce to the woman from "Swiftwater" Friday last in the Superior Court of the county. After the signing of the decree on Monday Cook and Beatrice left that night for Vancouver. The law of this State prevents remarrying within a period of six months after the granting of a decree of divorce.
Cook figured prominently in the testimony taken before the bar committee that is investigating the conduct of Lawyers Cole and Murphy in the exaction of $2250 from Gates under the guise of being the wife's attorneys. He gave some spicy testimony regarding Gates.
Local lawyers believe Mrs. Gates' action in remarrying so soon places her in contempt of court and that "Swiftwater Bill" will in this way be absolved from making the handsome settlement upon the wife decreed by the court. By the terms he agreed to settle upon his divorced wife a $6000 home and pay her in installments $10,000 in cash. She also was given the custody of their two children. Gates was married to his second wife seven years ago in Dawson.

WORKMEN ARE LIVING IN LARGE STOCKADE
Conditions in an Illinois Coke Camp Resemble Those of the Days of the Pioneers.
Chicago, Oct. 29.—South Deering, a busy little settlement South of South Chicago, awoke today to a new epoch in its history. The big coke ovens of the Semeth-Solavy Coke Company sprang into life, and a mode of life for the employes began that resembles that in frontier settlements.
A grim stockade surrounds the entire plant. Three hundred Hungarian and Austrian employes, with their families—a population of 1000—will live and labor within the walls, practically cut off from the outer world, save for an occasional newspaper or letter from friends. The stockade surrounds a sixty-one acre tract. The rules follow:
"No employes will be allowed outside the gates without permission.
"Curfew will ring at 9 o'clock, and every man, woman and child must be within the inclosure at that time.
"All entertainment will be provided by the company. Employes must not attend dances or other entertainments outside the inclosure."
The dance hall was opened with a big ball for the workers.
The stockade is calculated to keep the residents away from the low saloons and dance halls in the neighborhood and prevent the children from wandering away. It will also discourage burglars and toughs and be of use in case of a strike, although no strike is in progress.

EXPLANATION IS DUE
Jasper Jennings Has Not Made Everything Clear.

MYSTERY NOT YET CLEARED UP
Stories Told by the Boy in Connection with Murder of "Old Man" Jennings Are Not Borne Out by Circumstantial Evidence Gathered by the Officers.

Grants Pass, Oct. 29.—A feature of the recent investigation made into the Jennings murder mystery of Granite Hill mining camp, to solve the question of who murdered N. M. Jennings, the aged wood contractor, is damaging to Jasper Jennings, son of the murdered man. The boy has said that his sister committed the crime, but it has been found that the blood-stained tracks over the floor of the room in which the old man was killed, and which led over the doorstep and across the yard, were tracks of a man. They could not have been made by Dora Jennings, whom Jasper says killed her father because she hated him.
To account for the tracks the boy declares his sister wore his shoes over her own, that the blame for the crime might be laid at Jasper's door. But the girl denies all knowledge of this. Jasper says his sister stole into the cabin where he and a companion slept late at night, stealing both his rifle and his shoes. But the door of the boy's cabin opens with difficulty, and its rusty hinges screech loudly. It seems improbable that the door could have been opened without one or both of the boys hearing it.
Interest in the case is growing, and there is a change in the feeling of the general public toward the girl. She will say absolutely nothing concerning the crime, while the boy talks freely, though his confession tends toward shifting the blame upon his sister.

Saved His Life.
J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c $1.00. Sold by Frank Hart's drug store.
Tired out, worn out woman cannot sleep, eat or work; seems as if she would fly to pieces. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes strong nerves and rich red blood. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Sold by Frank Hart, druggist.

BETS ON THE RACES
Former Actress Raises Money for Charitable Purposes.

LOSES $10,000 ON THE PONIES
Mildred Curran Hits August Belmont, Helen Gould, and Others for Large Sums of Money Which She Squanders on Sure Things at the Race Tracks.

New York, Oct. 29.—Arrested for making collections from such well known people as August Belmont, Helen Gould, Viola Allen and Maud Adams on behalf of charitable organizations and appropriating the money, amounting to $10,000, during the past three years, Miss Mildred Curran, formerly an actress, broke down in the William Street Court, Brooklyn yesterday, and confessed.
It was her practice to make her collections during the morning and in the afternoon to go to the races, where she usually lost most of it. In the past three months she had collected $1100 and nearly all of it went for gambling on the horses.
Miss Curran, who is still a young and pretty woman, was arrested in the office of Isaac H. Cary, at No. 100 Fulton street, Brooklyn, where a trap had been set for her.
The girl lived at the Putnam House, and in her trunk there were found lists of the collections she had made from hundreds of prominent people for three years past. There was also a quantity of racing programs. Once an actress with the Viola Allen company, Miss Curran had been without work, she says, and it was either a case of doing what she had done or worse.

LONG TRAMP AWAITS ALASKA TRAVELERS.
Steamer Is Frozen in on the Tanana With One Hundred Passengers and 600 Tons of Freight.

Tacoma, Oct. 29.—Steamer Light, one of the last boats leaving Dawson for Fairbanks, is frozen in on Tanana at Nenana, sixty miles below Chena. She has 100 passengers and 600 tons of freight on board. The passengers must walk to Chena. The steamers Margaret and Independent have gone into winter quarters some distance below Chena. The Northern Commercial Company has changed its program of wintering its Yukon steamers at Stewart River. Instead they will be quartered on the west side of the Yukon, opposite Dawson.
